

Society of Nepalese Architects
Policy Committee Activity

Urban Planning & Building Bye-Laws

A Case of Towns in History of Kathmandu Valley

Planning ... Bye-Law... ?

- Prior organization of land use, infrastructure and structure to guarantee optimal
 - Economic Outcomes
 - Social Stability and Harmony Outcomes
 - Aesthetic and Cultural Outcomes
 - Environmental/Ecological Outcomes
 - One, some, all and in that order of objectivity?
- Bye-Laws
 - Seek APPROPRIATE SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR/ACTION in the town (from private citizen, private corporative and public bodies) so that they
 - Conform to a order, cause sought outcomes and not hamper these.

Were they planned?

- We find land use and networks enduring over centuries!
 - Regulated to obtain outcomes
 - Process: Social behavior, public rituals and festivals
 - Product: land use, public goods and network
 - Regularity in plan and pattern of streets?
 - Urbanism is not ‘an orthogonal state of mind’?
 - Intentionality of arrangement, not a coincidence
 - Repeated outcomes, processes and social institutions
 - Socially organized space with stability and harmony
 - Quality of urban public life

Some Peculiarities

- What is interesting about traditional Towns of Kathmandu Valley?
 - Climb up to it: location on high ground
 - Pond at almost the highest level and the Gah-hiti
 - The cross-road markers

while we know the Lichchhavi came from Ganga plains: Vaisali

- River banks civilization and Hindu/Buddhist Knowledge System
- Classical flatland pattern: Towns as Images
- Well system

The Kirat Settlement

- Dense/Bounded settlements on high ground:
Preservation of economic base/agricultural land
- Integration of ecology, society and economy
 - Balanced Ecological, Social and Economic Gains
 - Dyochhe, pith and norms of social behavior
- Pith located at ecologically sensitive spot such as Water holes, Springs, Land humps, Clump of trees
 - Divine presence = ecological variance
 - Preservation
- Festivals – sharing resources and recognizing the urban/rural continuum.

The Kirat Settlement

- Compact, bounded, culturally/ritually mediated relation between society, economy and ecology across space and generations – Pi-gan Festivals

Numinous Stones: Family of Siva

Terms: Topography & Land Use

- Cho
- Gung
- Pringga
- Bru
- Dula
- Gvala
- Tala

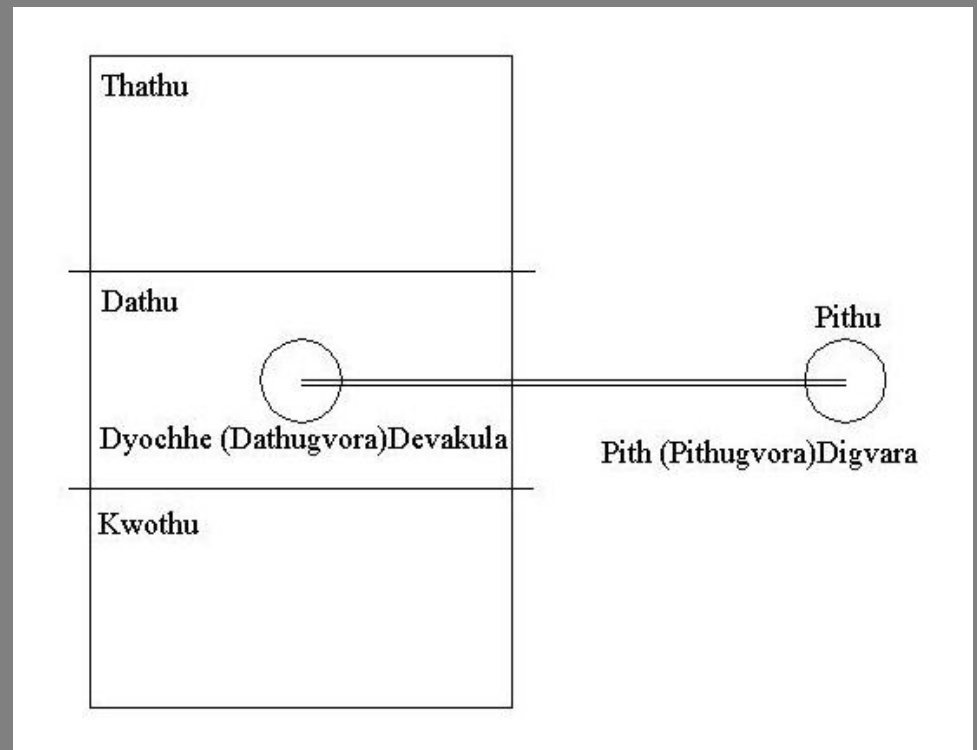

JAISIDEVAL: Memories of Tegvala

Terms: Topography & Urban Planning

- Thu
- Da-Thu (for the god in settlement)
- Tha-Thu (for the ruler)
- Kwo-Thu (for the citizen)
- Pi-Thu (for the god in nature)

To go on, this is what we find...

- Kirat's Settlements - Praxis
 - Eco-sensitivity and topographic harmony
 - Bounded settlements
- Lichchhavi's City building to an Image - Idealism
 - Following the Arthasashtra of Kautilya
 - Mirroring the Cosmos
 - Universe as earth, heavens and time (desh rupa, uvaya rupa, kala rupa!)
 - Geometry/Mathematics > astrology, religion and cosmology
- Malla's Town: Kirat Praxis + Lichchhavi Idealism
 - Hierarchical Public Spaces
 - Toles – Social neighborhoods/Economic neighborhoods
 - Social Harmony and Aesthetics

Yam

- Kathmandu Before the Lichchavi Laid out Daxinkoli-grama

Lichchhavi Town

- Capital, Bishalnagar, built by expanding Kirata town of Andi-pringga (Hadigaon)
- The Godly town at Deupatan settled
- Kathmandu: DaxinakoliGrama settled
 - Riverbank settlement
 - Standard Vedic Town Patterns
 - Ritual Protection: Cosmic Image
 - Stone Water Conduits
 - Larger Towns: wider resource base

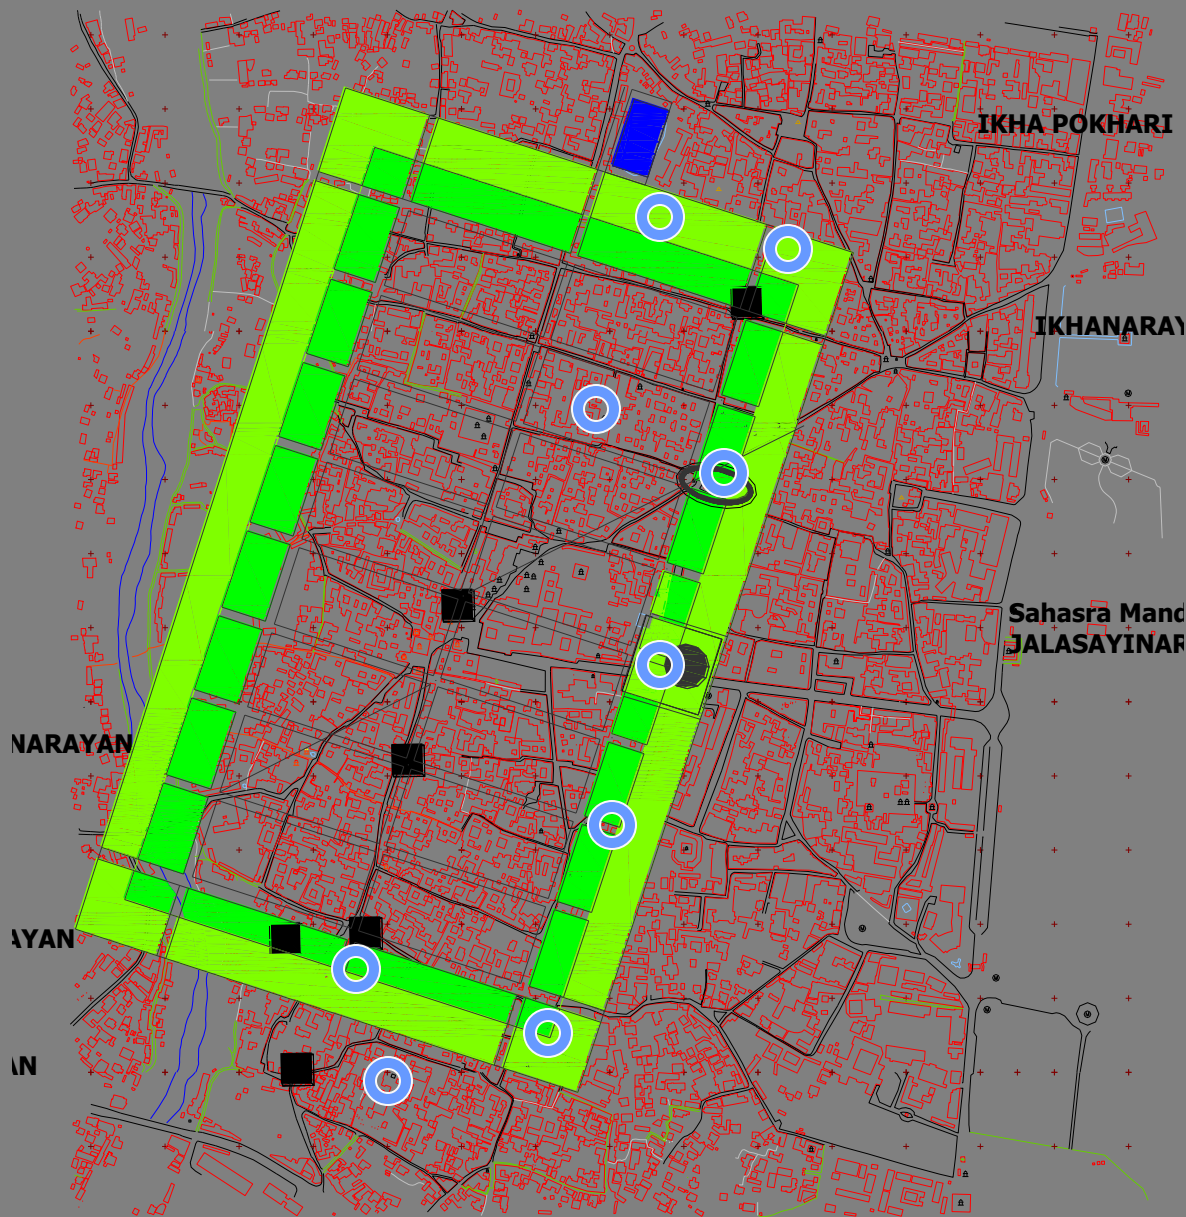

Lichchhavi Pattern

- Daxinakoligram
- Dandaka pattern
 - Ikhapokhari
- Jalasayanarayan?
- Onde Narayan
- Ikha Narayan
- Chikanmugal N
 - Makhan N

Nughah: Memories of Transition

Lichchhavi Pattern

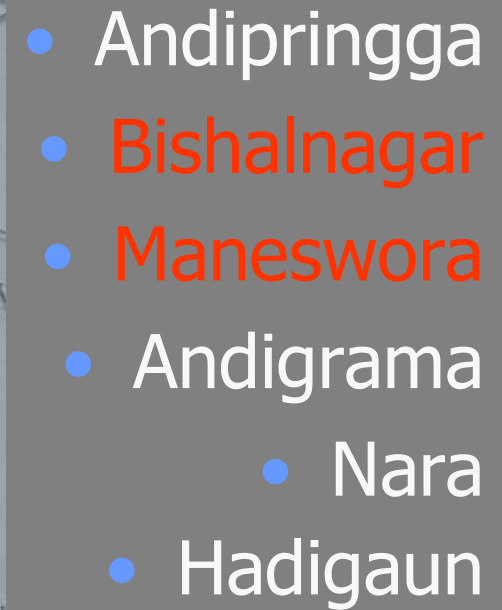

Daxinakoligram Dandaka pattern

- Ikhapokhari
- Ikha Narayan
- Makhan N
- Chikanmugal N
- Jaisidewal
- Onde N
- GREENS AND
STREETS AND SITES

The Lichchhavi Town Planning

— CAPITAL: PRASTARA Plan

- Ritual Protection: Formal Cosmic Image
- Physical Protection: Moats
 - Sukha Parikha, Kachchham, Parikha
- Palace in the Center
- Larger Town, wider resource base, extended Festival – Satyanarayan festival to Bansbari

Urban Management

- Guthi: a community based management
 - Private wealth as “Public Endowment”
 - Community ownership and operation of land
 - Maintenance of services
- Ritual Mediation of Urban actions
 - Festivals trigger agenda of public urban action
- Recognition of water supply as key urban infrastructure
- Festive routes as Main Streets
- Harmony in architecture
 - Building bye-laws through Vastusastra?
 - Practical neighborliness?

Malla Towns

- Development through a Mix of
 - Kirat ecological prototype +
 - Lichchhavi's urban planning principles
- Eco-sensitive ritual bounding and structure
 - Bounded urban development, Dune and Pine
 - Ritual/Social mediation of Wider urban-rural continuum (resource base)
 - Tole sectorization, homogeneous neighborhoods
 - Change mediation through rituals

INDEPENDENCE  RURAL  INTERDEPENDENCE

PERIMETER GODDESSES: YANTRA - ECOLOGY - ECONOMY
BOUNDED GROWTH

FESTIVALS : PLAYING OUT INTERDEPENDENCIES

Cycles: EVERY YEAR / FOUR YEARS / 12 YEARS

PROTECTING SOURCE / ENERGY / WATER / MATS.
HARMONY OF PEOPLE
SECULARIZATION

SEGREGATION
(NETWORK)

MELTING
POT
(BREW?)

THE HETEROGENEOUS TOWN

RAINBOW
(SCHEME?)

MOSAIC
(Heterogeneous
Culture/
Subgroup)

TIME
INDIVIDUAL 100-0 → TOLERANCE 50-50 → TOWN 0-100 COMMUNAL

- Setting up motives and evolving ethical behavior : ritually mediated plan
- Cities planned and patterned after a perceived image of cosmos – a mental construct
- Use mediated by rituals
- Accommodating growth but remaining complete and balanced at all times as a mental construct
- Plan in the mind of the user
- Exploiting human ethics, individual faithfulness and emotionally guided inner discipline

Bye-Laws

- Ritual: sustained implementation of an idea through a process that is built around the fondest faiths of the urban society (process seeking pre-defined actions in a pre-defined sequence in an exacting way and followed without question)

Ritual Planning

- Image of Cosmos
- Form understood by all who used it
- Orientation to God and cosmic laws
- Assurance of welfare and peace of the living
- Gods' 'need' as public good
- Ritual activity, movements characterize organization of streets, squares and other spaces

Well, that's it

- We had the town planned and its implementation ritually mediated through generations
- So well enduring were these that they made a world heritage in 20th century!

... but then, ???